

FALLOW BUCK

The versatile and exciting hunt

Do you enjoy the challenging and thrilling hunt for the fallow buck? Do you seek the challenge to stalk noiselessly through the autumn forest – if necessary on socks? Then, the fallow buck hunt in October is just the thing for you. But the spots are limited, so do not hesitate and come join us for this exciting hunting experience.

When the forest gleams in vibrant autumn colours, around mid to end October, the time is right. The fallow bucks create their rutting wells and attract the hinds, that are everywhere throughout the forests during this time, with their belching.

The does are extremely vigilant and tend to alert the buck of the stalking hunter before they can place the shot. Moreover, the fallow buck is constantly moving in the rutting grounds and the right moment quickly goes by. This way, the hunt stays interesting and exciting until the last second.

You are rewarded by a beautiful trophy. The trophy weight of two to three kilogrammes may seem light at first, but the trophies are just as magnificent as heavier ones from other hunting countries.

For our hunting guests who do not want to go on stalks, which can be rather demanding, we offer the chance to sit in hides at strategic places. From there, you can observe the rutting fallow buck and are very likely to see various species of game, besides fallow deer.

Convince yourselves by accompanying us in our beautiful, autumn forests close to the 'Hubertus Hunting Lodge' and experience this interesting hunt. You will certainly take home some unforgettable memories.

FALLOW BUCK HUNT

Thrilling hunt in autumn forests

From mid to end October, the fallow buck's unique belching chimes through our colourful autumn forests. The alert fallow does are everywhere and the hunter has to carefully and noiselessly stalk to the rutting grounds. There, the fallow buck creates his rutting well and he is always moving. This hunt remains exciting until the last second.
